ORGANIZATIONAL ASSESSMENT
DEVELOP COMMON UNDERSTANDING AND SET THE STAGE FOR MEANINGFUL CHANGE.

When was the last time you brought together your key staff and board members to discuss where your organization is headed?

Whether your agency is anticipating change or starting a planning process, it’s important to give your board and staff leadership the opportunity to reflect and see the big picture.

Because this dialogue can be an important first step in planning, NSP offers an Organizational Assessment to qualified organizations in Greater Hartford.
BUILD SHARED FOCUS, MOTIVATION AND DIRECTION.

The Organizational Assessment reviews your governance and management functions to help you identify key priorities and areas for improvement, and build consensus on next steps.

An experienced facilitator will guide your leadership team through two group discussions that cover key areas, including:

- Mission
- Planning
- Evaluation
- Governance
- Staffing
- Financial management
- Technology
- Revenue development

Following these discussions, you will receive a summary report with recommendations and priorities. This report can be used internally and by future consultants as you pursue more in-depth planning and action.

Move forward with clarity and consensus:

“The assessment helps you get rid of the blinders so you can focus anew on setting your goals and objectives and finding ways to meet them.” —Executive Director

Every opportunity starts with a conversation.
